Effort to Work Up a Sherman Boom-The

(From Cur Regular Correspondent.) WASHINGTON, May 17 .- I asked a prominent Virginia Republican to-day what he thought of Blaine's chances. He replied that " with money and system he will Runs on the Brooklyn Banks Ended-Condicarry the South." He meant that he could capture the southern Republican vote for the Chicago Convention. He did not seem to understand that Mr. Blaine has a hold on the Republican vote of the country that is not to be controlled by pecuniary considerations.

THE LONDON " ECONOMIST" ON THE SITUA-

TION. London, May 17 .- The Economist thinks Newman, William H. Parker, and Robert that if the panic in New York is confined to the Stock Exchange, it is not likely to con-tinue long or leave seeds for future trouble. It will tend rather to clear the air and facilitate gradual recovery from the depression so long prevalent. The present trou-bles are traceable to the mania for construct-ing new railways, which first manifested itself in 1879. American railways securities have fallen into discredit here, owing to well-founded distrust in their managem Thus a slow panie has been in progress for nearly two years. The fact that confidence in the stability of a number of banks has been greatly shaken constitutes a dangerous feature of the situation. If the panic should develop into a banking crisis, the whole business of the country would sys-tain a paralyzing shock. Probably this danger will be avoided. Meanwhile no one knows what a day may bring forth.

On that day Miss Morse could not be found. Ex-Assistant District-Attorney O'Byrne introduced for the defence the record of a civil suit against Miss Morse, and on his summing up argued that the receipt guaranteeing interest and the record of the civil suit showed that the $600 was merely a loan to Miss Morse, which she had not been able to pay. Miss Morse did not testify in her own behalf, and no other witness was called. The claim of the prosecution was that the money was obtained by Miss Morse with a fraudulent intent. The jury, after deliberating for three hours, reported that they could not agree. They stood eight to four tor conviction. Judge Cowing discharged them and remanded Miss Morse to await a new trial. Miss Herter to Miss Morse's office on Octo-ber 12th, and asked why Miss Morse re-quired security. She said that she repre-sented a syndicate of thirty ladies and was in her third term of her Ladies' Invest-ment Rureau. One of the former operament Bureau. One of the former opera-tors had run away with $1,000. Ordinarily she required a deposit of $1,000, but as Miss Herter was an agreeable young lady and spoke several languages she would require only $600. She gave a receipt for the money, guaranteeing 6 per cent, in-night, and to-day is quite sick. It is believed that his internal injuries are serious.

The Democratic ward meetings held last night for the nomination of candidates for the Common Common Conditions.

Miss Morse's interest in the younger jurors disappeared.
